JUNE: JUST YOU NOW EQUAL

In the Month of June, We Honor the King

In the heart of June, when the sun stands high,
We lift up the brothers who reach for the sky.
Black man, you are God...by nature and by name,
Even when you stumble, your essence remains.

In wayward steps or battles you fight,
Still you hold a spark of that original light.
We don't just praise perfection or ease
We honor your journey, your struggles, your peace.

You are our builder, protector, our flame,
We thank you for rising—again and again.
Through the babies you plant, your spirit still grows,
Your wisdom and worth in their faces, it shows.

So from the Earths, with respect and grace,
We thank you for holding your rightful place.
Past, present, and what's yet to be
You are still the King, and forever will be.

Continue to refine. Continue to rise.
We see you. We love you. You are the wise.

Peace! To me JUNE 13, 1969 manifests Just You Now Equal in the Knowledge and Understanding of the Culture and Freedom which Allah The Father revealed as I Self Lord And Master. This day marked not the end (death), b.u.t. the beginning of the Sun becoming the Father of the house that is Allah World Manifest. A Nation of Gods and Earths made manifest in the wilderness of North America as the cornerstone of the foundation of a new world order. A new world order in which Knowledge the original man is placed back in his natural order as the origin of the Wisdom and the Understanding, and not the product thereof. A new world order in which Allah the Sun has risen in the West and now illuminates supremely across the planet earth as the hope for the future of humanity's awakening from the mental death of the belief in a mystery god that no one will be able to see until they are physically dead, b.u.t. there is no so-called physical death. Through the daily existence of the Sun, the Father and his works are known, showing and proving that Allah Lives! On this day of June 13, we must reflect upon our daily existence as the Sun and Earth, and ask yourself: Are we Showing and Proving Allah Lives or the Father is dead?

"The true quality of a man is shown through his ways and actions, and not merely through the words which he may speak. He may say he is all wise and civilized, b.u.t. his ways and actions may show he is a savage in the pursuit of happiness." Peace.

SHOW AND PROVE

Show and Prove Allah Lives...Show and prove that through you his divine wisdom you give.

Civilization as Allah World Manifest, upon the planet earth North, South, East and West.

Show and prove that you are a product of the best part, the youth raised by Allah The Father through whom his Nation found its start.

He raised the 5% and taught them to be God and Earth, and through the 14th degree in the Supreme Alphabets he made clear a Nation he gave birth.

On June 13, 1969, Allah The Father they tried to eliminate, but little did they know, you cannot destroy that which you did not create.

Allah is God, always has been always will be, the Father and Son are one - the unity of divinity.

Thinking they were victorious with their evil and wicked deed, and Allah's Nation would decline as an uncultivated seed.

Uncertainty did surface and some confusion did teeter, but the best knowers never forgot after Allah we are the leader.

On June 13, 1971, Prince Born and Dumar Wa'de, made this fact a reality. With the presentation of the Show and Prove, Allah's Nation was on the move.

The babies are the greatest was the modus operandi, their educational and scientific achievements showing and proving that Allah Lives is not a lie.

From 1971 to 2025 is Power Culture Freedom years, are you still standing over the body of Allah The Father shedding tears?

Trapped behind the salty water of illusionary baptism, worshiping the Father and turning his Nation into another religious schism.

Show and Prove is about showing and proving you are the true and living, the sons and daughters of Allah The Father a manifestation of his life-giving.

Knowledge of self to those who seek, building a Nation of Gods and Earths making his life's existence complete.

Allah lives because we Show and Prove every single day, his culture of I-God in a righteous, civilized and productive way.

Show and Prove.

ADDING ON...

Peace! Show and Prove are not just words, it's our daily duty to live out the lessons we build on. It's about showing the world that we are the true and living, the sons and daughters of Allah.

When we Show and Prove, we bring knowledge of self to those who seek it, building a Nation of Gods and Earths that reflects the completeness of Allah's existence. Allah lives in us because we live his culture of I-God every single day in righteous, civilized, and productive ways.

B.u.t. the babies, they are the future. Show and Prove means aiding and assisting the babies, nurturing them so they can continue what we were given. That's why the success of the Black woman, Earth, is vital because she is the first teacher of the babies. Her growth, her strength, and her wisdom ensure that the seeds planted grow righteous and strong.

Just as the Black man must Show and Prove he is God daily, so must the Earth Show and Prove she is Earth. Our roles are interdependent. Our duties are divinely aligned. We balance each other for the betterment of the babies and the survival of our Nation.

- When we build her up, we build the Nation.
- When we respect her, we respect ourselves.
- When we Show and Prove, we make sure the babies get the best of us.

So let's continue to Show and Prove...every single day by teaching, building, and protecting the babies and the Earths. The Nation's legacy depends on it.

Understanding's Legal Corner

Part 3: The Truth of DEI

They wanted to conserve their American society, and any diversity, equity and inclusion that was non white was seen as a threat to that society. The Doctrine of Exclusion said that all black people must be excluded from the fruits of white society and their existence must be made clear to be subservient to white people. Their history could not be taught. They had no rights which whites were to respect, and they were to be excluded from paid employment, property ownership, and human decency. The Doctrine of Exclusion was so successful, that it became the cornerstone for the enslavement laws passed in 1665. The enslavement laws took the Doctrine of Exclusion and expanded it, and it gave white male dominated America a steady labor force. Blacks were now an excluded, subordinated and non compensated work force. A labor force for the personal comfort and wealth building of white America. This is what the slave code said explicitly and implicitly.

Now my point is that this all started with the Doctrine of Exclusion of 1638. This doctrine was an all-out campaign against all non white diversity, equity and inclusion in American society. Is this what Trump and the conservative party trying to conserve and Make America Great Again with? Is their campaign against all DEI programs a renewal and revision of the Doctrine of Exclusion? Most importantly, will it again lead to the passing of enslavement laws in America? Maybe it already have. How many black-brown people do they now have enslaved in Guantanamo Bay under the guise of illegal immigration? Under Make America Great Again, if America is not diverse then it is all white with an all white ideology. Is this why Trump, while supposedly dealing with the immigration problem, passing Executive Orders making it easy for Afrikaans from South Africa to become citizens of America? If you don't know, research who they are and what they did. If there is no equity, then justness and impartiality only exist for those who have the power, wealth and influence. Is this not also an all white elite group in America? The business partners of Trump, Elon Musk, and their family and friends. How many billionaires attended Trump's inauguration? If America has no inclusion, it is no longer a melting pot of the American Dream. It is an all white male dominated conservative nightmare social equality. Peace! The full article is online.

Juneteenth, celebrated on June 19th, marks the day in 1865 when Union troops arrived in Galveston, Texas, to enforce the emancipation of enslaved Blacks more than two years after the Emancipation Proclamation was signed. It symbolizes not only the end of slavery but also the ongoing fight for freedom and equality. In 2021, Juneteenth was officially recognized as a federal holiday under President Joe Biden. However, in today's political climate, there is concern among many that progress made toward racial justice may be at risk. President Donald Trump, known for his "Make America Great Again" slogan, has expressed views and policy goals that critics argue could undermine civil rights advances including speculation that he might seek to repeal Juneteenth as a federal holiday if re-elected. In recent years, there has been a growing movement within parts of the federal government and state legislatures to reshape the role of the Department of Education to align with political agendas that downplay or erase critical parts of American history especially Black history. Efforts to restrict the teaching of systemic racism, slavery, and civil rights in schools under the banner of banning "divisive concepts" or "critical race theory" threaten to sanitize history and remove essential truths from the classroom. This isn't just a debate over curriculum; it's a deliberate attempt to rewrite the narrative of America's past and silence the voices of those who fought for justice and equality. As a community, we have a responsibility to ensure our youth are taught the full, unfiltered truth. Our history is not just Black history, it is American history. We must protect it, teach it at home and in our communities, and empower young people to know where they come from, so they can stand firm in who they are and continue the work toward justice and freedom.
